From Rev Philip Sharp:

By the time you are reading this, hopefully we will have a Government. We certainly continue to live in uncertain times. Yet again who would want to admit to being a pollster following the unexpected General election results. It certainly can be unnerving and stressful to be unsure of what the future holds and particularly when everything around us appears to be in a state of flux. Yet it has almost always been thus, we just prefer to look back at the past and pretend that there was a Golden Age in which everything was better. It was in precisely such uncertain times that the prophet Jeremiah spoke these words "“For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.”” (Jeremiah 29:11). This is a promise that has given generations of people the courage to continue in circumstance that were far worse than those we find ourselves in because these words give an assurance based not on the fleeting promises of human institutions, but on the unchanging nature of the Creator of the Universe. Or as Jesus himself put it to the disciples on so many occasions “do not be afraid.” Yours in Christ

Morval Aunt Sally - a lovely way to spend a Summer evening!

Aunt Sally games on Wednesday evenings are becoming more and more popular as new players join in. With longer daylight hours and warmer weather, it's a great way to meet your neighbours and have some not-too-serious competitive fun playing an old country sport!

Do join us on the "green" at the entrance to the Old School (Metherell Gard offices) in Morval. It'll only cost you 50p per person. Bring your own drinks and nibbles.

It all starts at 7.30pm, but join in at any time. See you there?

Bridge Club: Tuesday & Wednesday mornings 10am. All welcome!

Carol is having a coffee afternoon in aid of Alzheimer's and MS on Sunday 13th August from 2pm at 26, Morview Rd, Widegates. There will be tea, coffee, cake, stalls and a raffle. Please come along and support two very worthy causes!

Morval and Widegates Charity Fête 2017

Preparations for this year's event on Sunday 16th July are well advanced and the organisers are looking forward to a fine day with lots of visitors, in the grounds of the Old School at Morval. The fête will be opened at 2pm by Mr John Kitson.

Lots of stallholders are already signed up. If you'd like to be among them, don't delay in ringing Anne Rice on 01503 240955. Stall sites cost £5 and you keep the proceeds of your sales. There will also be a repeat of last year's highly successful novelty dog show. Why not bring yours along this time and see if he or she is a prize-winner?

Add to all this live music, delicious cream teas and home-made cakes, a children's play area, a giant raffle, games, toilet facilities and plenty of free parking and it's a splendid way to spend a summer afternoon in lovely surroundings! Best of all, all proceeds will be shared equally between the British Heart Foundation and the Liskeard Echo Centre. Mark the date on your calendar now! We look forward to seeing you

Summer Concert in St Wenna's Church

On Saturday 15th July, starting at 7pm, Ilow Splann (Cornish for bright/shiny/splendid music) will be giving a concert in St Wenna's, in aid of church funds. Ilow Splann consists of two musicians, Carlton Crouch and Maggie Willmott, who play various combinations of recorders, saxophone, violin, guitar and keyboard, even bagpipes from time to time.

The concert will include Carlton's duet arrangements of Cornish folk tunes, some Elizabethan dances, Baroque recorder sonatas and pieces from the 18th century 'Morval music book'. The audience will be invited to join in with some Cornish folk songs.

Admission £5 to include tea/coffee and cakes

Maria's Story – by Annie: Part 1

Morval church is a beautiful building nestled in a small valley in the heart of Cornwall, and this little story is told by Maria, who lives in the parish;

It was Sunday morning, the air was cool, not unlike the coolness that drifts in with an oncoming tide, it gently settled around the steps that I took, while I sauntered up the old worn path, with the sparse sprinkling of grey gravel and tiny tufts of grass that had poked their defiant heads up to the light and sunshine. Many feet had passed through here, old feet, young feet, excited feet and tired, tired feet, all these had pummelled the old gravel into the earth.

But I was quite happy to come to church this morning. The birds were singing, that's always a good sign. You could hear the pheasants calling in the distance, and the sun was shining, but there was still this odd chill in the air.

As I tried to open the huge wooden door that guarded this holy building, like a faithful old soldier, it groaned and rebelled to being opened and the painted black latch, stuck slightly by being used and pushed and wiggled, and not oiled or fed with love and care.

The service was just about to start and I settled myself in a seat by myself. I looked around at all the familiar faces that I knew. They were in their usual places, chattering between themselves, like little church mice, catching up with the week's news and passing mints discretely to each other with a twinkle in their eyes, like naughty school children passing secret sweets to each other in lessons. I smiled to myself, it was much easier to sit by myself, I didn't have to think about what to say or talk about, and although I'm happy to be here, I'm extremely tired and just need peace.

Looking around you realise how beautiful it is here. Morval church is so old with so much atmosphere and antiquity, every nook and cranny holding secrets for many years, the walls have been moulded with confessions and in places they seem to ache with precious tales that might make you cry.

The wood that stretched across the eaves of the roof, glowed and whispered stories that were imprinted in the bows, that sailed the oceans of times gone by, and you could almost... (cont. next page)

Parish Council News

Being only the first monthly meeting since the election, things are a little quiet for the Parish Council.

It has been approached by a resident who made some observations of the effects of the bus route diversion whilst the road from Looe to Sandplace was closed. A number of positive effects were noted by the resident which he has very kindly shared with the Council. St. Martin's Parish Council will be approached to establish its thoughts and those of the people living in its parish as a first step in trying to establish whether people support the idea of the diversionary route becoming a permanent route. Obviously, the Council would not like to request a permanent change without having consulted with the people of Morval parish and so any resident with any thoughts on the matter should contact the clerk.

You will find two inserts in this edition of the Outlook delivered on behalf of the Parish Council concerning the Neighbourhood Watch Scheme and the two telephone boxes located in Widegates Village and at Sandplace. The Council would politely request that you have a look at them both and please do complete them and return them to either a councillor or the clerk. This will enable a decision to be made about the phone boxes whilst any forms for the Neighbourhood Watch scheme will be forwarded to the appropriate person.

across the bilious waves that pounded and smashed against the powerful, manmade vessel of pride

Everything around me seemed to relax me and help me drift into the Aura of the church, I felt as though a soft bubble had surrounded me.

The service was opened by the vicar, who is a lovely man, standing there in his shiny whiter than white robe and his very shiny black shoes. He greeted everyone and proceeded with his message. What was I going to learn today? Something very thought provoking, no doubt, but little did I know what the next chapter in the service would bring!

Reading Room 7th July 2017 – 7pm    Medium Readings

As a medium it is important to me that messages from spirit offer comfort and reassurance to those who request it. I can feel, hear and sometimes even smell your loved ones in spirit and I try to get across some good validation, whether they are personal or group readings.

I shall be standing up in front of the audience and relaying messages from spirit to as many people in the room as I can. This will be the first time I have worked in the Looe area and am very much looking forward to seeing some new faces. I really hope you will be able to join me.

Entrance fee £12 on the night or £10 by calling beforehand on 07552 733088 or visit my Facebook page. Thank you, Clare Hinks.
